

All in-person classes for the Fall 2020 will now be online.

Dear Students, Faculty and Staff:

Due to a revised Alameda County Health Department Order (10-14c), Lincoln University is unable to continue our plan to have in-person instruction in our campus buildings right now. This is due to the health department's evaluation of current COVID-19 data in Alameda county. The health department will allow in-person instruction in the near future when they determine it is safe.

All in-person classes for the Fall 2020 semester that begins this Monday, August 24, 2020 will now be online. Monday will be confusing with this transition, but we will try to make this transition for everyone as easy as possible. In-person classes scheduled for this upcoming week should be flexible so both instructors and students can adjust to this change. Students and instructors should contact the computer lab as soon as possible if they have communication or technical problems so our lab technicians can help.

It is unfortunate for our Lincoln community to experience this COVID-19 environment, but be assured I continue to be committed along with our staff to provide you with the best quality education that Lincoln can deliver while keeping our 100 years distinguished feature of personal attention to every student.

Dr. Mikhail Brodsky
President of Lincoln University

The important changes of the Alameda county order that cover us and have been revised are on page 11, Section 15(b)(xiv).
