LINCOLN UNIVERSITY BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION 109: BUSINESS ETHICS

Professor ALLAN SAMSON allan.samson@sbcglobal.net (415) 391-4949

What's wrong with giving bribes? What's wrong with asking for bribes? What's wrong with paying money to a lower official if it will circumvent bureaucratic regulations? What's wrong with large executive bonuses after company losses? What's wrong with exchanging a promotion for sexual favors? What's wrong with giving expensive gifts to get a contract? Why should you refuse expensive gifts from a company which wants your company's business? What's wrong with hiring your relatives even if they are not as well qualified as another job candidate? What's wrong with using insider knowledge to buy or sell a stock in a company? What's wrong with outsourcing jobs if it will increase your company's profits? What's wrong with allowing foreign contractors to hire children to produce your product if it will both increase your company's profit and provide employment to benefit the unemployed parents of the children? Should you report on the management of your own company if you know they are hiding or covering up hazardous chemicals and if it may result in your losing your own job?? What's wrong with using your own company's economic power to lower prices in order to drive a competitor out of business? What's wrong with deregulation with minimum governmental oversight? What's wrong with setting up a secret overseas bank account?
